

NEWS

19th Apex - RCBs managers' conference discusses change in a crisis

SEE ON PAGE 5

FEATURE

The Robert Vogel Memorial Foundation
Educating the future, one indigene at a time
SEE CENTRE

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 2020

thebftonline.com

Director General of the Nuclear Regulatory Authority, Dr. Nii Allotey

NUCLEAR ENERGY

We have ticked all safety boxes – Nuclear Energy regulator
... Licensing programme being drawn

By Osei Owusu AMANKWAAH
owusu-amanakwaah@thebftonline.com

Director General of the Nuclear Regulatory Authority (NRA), Dr. Nii Allotey, has said his outfit is assiduously working on guidelines for the execution of the nation's nuclear energy agenda, one that has taken into consideration all the predictable risks.

According to him, the guidelines are not only looking at best practices in the contemporary establishment and management of nuclear plants but also several studies to aid in getting regulations fit for the Ghanaian environment have been conducted.

Dr. Allotey made this known at an event for the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU)

SEE ON PAGE 2

StaySafe. Watch out for fraudsters exploiting COVID-19 challenges to commit cybercrime.

For more details, call free on short code 3225 or on 0302 213 999.

© BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL TIMES LIMITED 2020 ****

Subscribe now
www.thebftonline.com

ISSN 0855-1812

Sand winners mopping up left portion of already destroyed farm

The current state of a cocoa farm which was consumed by sand winning two years ago

Sand winning destroying cocoa farms in Ashanti Region

See on page 3

TRADE

Lack of incentives impede exporters' desire to take advantage of COVID-19

By Osei Owusu AMANKWAAH
owusu-amanakwaah@thebftonline.com

Exporters looking to take advantage of disruptions in supply chains in Europe and America due to the Coronavirus pandemic are worried about the unavailability of enough funds and incentives to scale up production.

According to these exporters, the state of the pandemic in Ghana offers a unique opportunity for government to introduce some incentives to propel the export of fast moving consumer goods to Europe and America.

Some members of the Vegetable Exporters and Producers Association of Ghana (VEPEAG) in an interview with the B&FT said government must urgently organise a meeting with players in the aviation sector to deliberate on ways to bring down freight cost and introduce some measures to support the export of more produce to Europe and America to fill the gap that has been created due to the effect of COVID-19 on Asian countries especially India.

The President of VEPEAG Felix Kamassah, said: "India is not exporting vegetable produce to Europe and America because they

SEE ON PAGE 3